Belief Structure

- Decisions are based on emotions and justified with logic.
- Why did you "come to Torah"? (I.e. decided God requires you to obey the instructions of Moses)
 1. Holy Spirit moved upon you (an emotional experience)
 2. Shiny new object syndrome (an emotional experience)
 3. You were hurt by other believers (an emotional experience)

How Do You Bring Down The Wall?

- Connect with the person emotionally
- How do you connect with someone emotionally?
 - Understand them
 - ASK QUESTIONS!
 - Make them feel understood
 - Repeat what you think understand back to them
 - This builds trust

Make Yourself Understood

- Understand what you believe (not apologetics)
- Theological self-awareness
 - Why do you believe what you believe (emotionally no logically)
- What do I want the scripture to say?
 - Reveals your bias
 - Allows for other perspectives to be seen

Understanding The Christian Perspective

- Do Christians obey the Law of Moses?
 - 77% vs 81%
- Matt 21:28 – 31
- Are you speaking their language?
- Do you have a history of obeying the Law of Moses?

What Are Christian's Missing?

- Eating "kosher"
 - A lot of us don't exactly eat "kosher" or Biblically clean either
 - GMO
 - Hybrids
- Celebrating the moedim or appointed times (Lev 23)
- ~~Worshiping Yahweh the way the nations worship their gods~~
- Not wearing tzitzits
- ...

Understanding Your Perspective

- Us vs them mentality
- Where is your focus?

How Much Does It Matter?

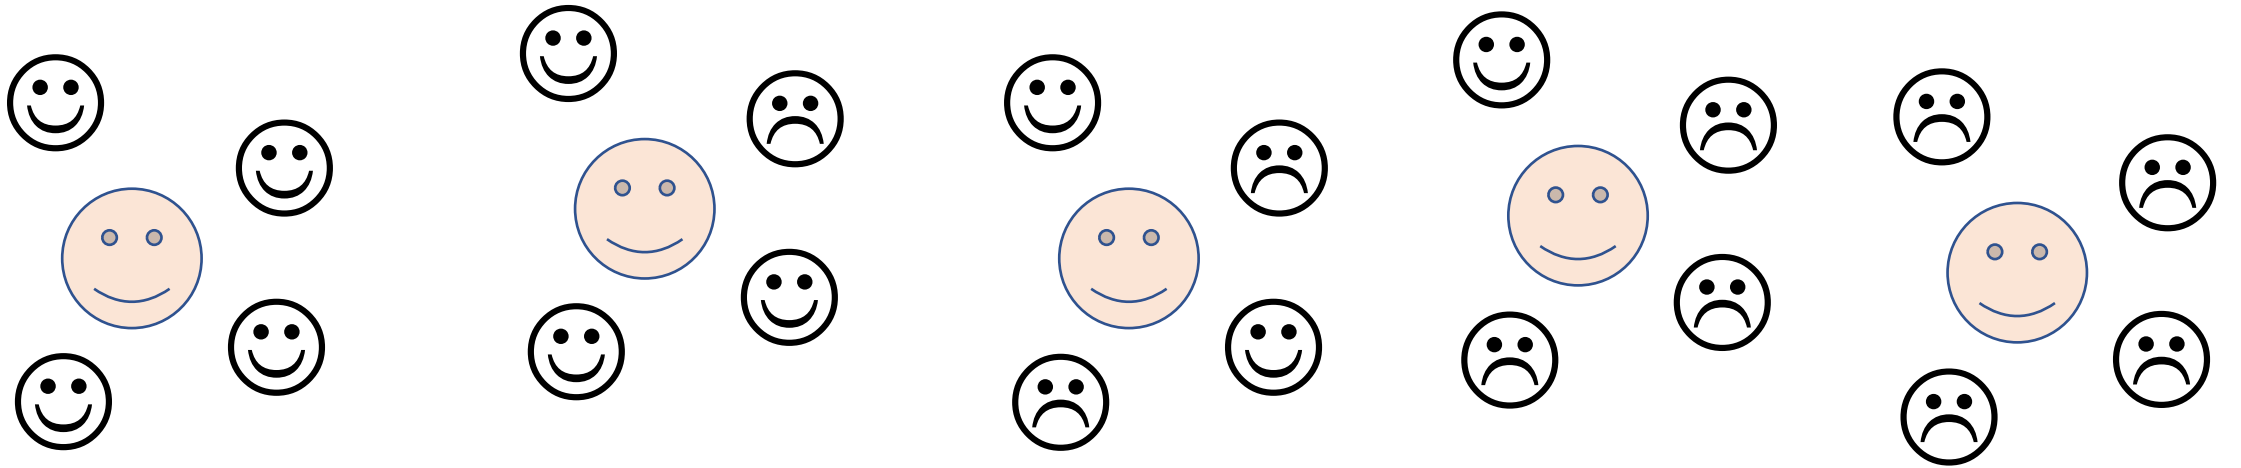

- Acts 15:1 – 29
- What do we want it to say?

Conclusion

- Successfully sharing Torah with other believers requires times, patience, and the leading of the Holy Spirit.
- Provoke them to want more and let the Holy Spirit convict them of sin.

Application

- Your number one concern is how someone came to know Yahshua as their Lord and Savior. Just because someone appears to obey the Law of Moses does not mean they are in right relationship with their Creator.
 - Ask the people you meet here, "How did you come to Yahshua?"
